This is the forum page of the Unity website

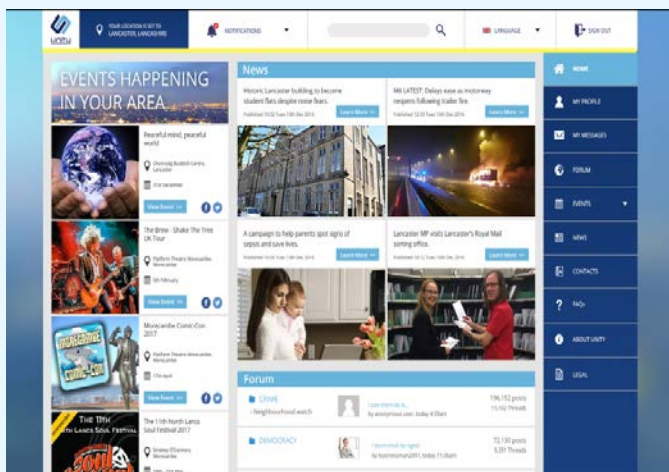

The Unity project forum will give all community members an opportunity to communicate their worries or ideas to the police, within a safe environment.

You can contact other people about community issues. The Unity forum is a safe zone for you to talk about your concerns with others

You can also speak to somebody through the Unity forum who can help you with your concern. This may be a police officer or a professional within the community

It will also tell you what events are happening in your community which you might be interested in

Unity will give training to police officers to help them deal with your concerns better and make changes in your community.
